DATE: Monday 3/26/18

TIME: 6 pm

LOCATION: High School Media Center

A Presentation for parents of students with LD or ADHD who are contemplating post-secondary education. The presentation is geared for parents and students from sophomore year to senior year. Information on accessing accommodations at the college level, preparing for the rigors of the college experience and examples of ways to better understand one's learning disability and self-advocacy will be discussed.

Varrassi will identify key factors that result in college failure for students with disabilities and provide strategies and practical ways to better prepare students to succeed at the next level. This program is designed for parents, students and school professionals. Participants will take away sample counseling strategies, readings and sample lessons that teachers, parents and students can start using immediately. Sample IEP team goals that address the transition needs of students who hope to attend post-secondary education will be discussed.
